

Three Supreme Court justices will be elected in Washington this year. These are the positions at the top of the judicial pyramid in Washington State, and are important to everyone, but significant in that our work is directly impacted by them (the McCleary decision, for example).

Each race is contested, and the League of Women Voters of Washington State will host a forum with all the candidates who will be in the general election: incumbents Barbara Madsen, Mary Yu, Charlie Wiggins will be in contests with Greg Zemple, David DeWolf, and Dave Larson respectively.

The forum is at Gonzaga Law School (free parking after 5), Barbieri Moot Court Room, 5 pm (new time) to 7:30 pm on Wednesday, September 28 and will be televised state-wide by TVW. KYRS and SPR/KPBX will also record and broadcast some or all of it. This event is co-sponsored with the Center For Justice, with others invited and decisions pending.

The League of Women Voters is dedicated to helping voters make informed decisions. These are non-partisan positions. Come and learn first hand about judges. Be the person other's call for advice!
